Consent & Release Form for :

Payment of fees

Please note that our arrival instructions are only issued once acceptance has been made and payment has been received in full. If funds are being sought elsewhere (e.g. Pub Charities, Lion Foundation, Service Organizations) please advise us when payment can be expected and from whom.

Refunds

Refunds will not be made if the berth is cancelled within three weeks of sailing. If cancellation is due to injury or illness (medical certificate required) sail trainees will be placed on another voyage. Where cancellations are made within a reasonable time, refunds will be provided less $100 administration fee.

Personal items

The R. Tucker Thompson Sail Training Trust cannot be held responsible for any damage to property or belongings taken aboard the vessel and you should arrange your own insurance of these items. Alcohol and drugs are not permitted under any circumstances and if found will result in instant removal of the sail trainee at the nearest port.

Absolutely no cell phones, I-pods, other electronic items, money or food are permitted on board. Please do not bring these or you will be asked to hand them in on arrival. Anything found once the voyage has departed WILL be destroyed.

Voyage safety

The R. Tucker Thompson Sail Training Trust endeavours to ensure that all voyages are safe for those involved. Participation in a voyage, however, will involve both physical efforts on the part of the Sail Trainee and potentially exposure to greater than usual risk.

The Trust attempts to minimize these risks by being a responsible and professional organization with high standards of safety and discipline when on a voyage. For this reason, Trainees must agree to abide the safety and instructions given to them and be able to meet the minimum fitness and health requirements sent out by the Trust. By signing this form you, and your parents or caregivers agree:

1. To accept the risks inherent with any voyage
2. To comply with the safety standards and directions given to you while on board
3. That the Trust, its servants and agents (whether negligent or not) shall not be responsible for any injury, accident, loss, damage or expense suffered by you on the voyage

Any trainee found misusing any substance that causes altered behaviour will be sent home at the soonest opportunity. No exceptions.

Privacy Act and medical information

The information collected by the R. Tucker Thompson Sail Training Trust in this application is used for the purposes of assessing your suitability for the nominated voyage, for the administration of the voyage and for statistical purposes. The information will also be used to send you further information about the voyage and the Trust's activities.

It may be necessary for the Trust's staff to discuss your medical history with your doctor either before you are accepted for a voyage or subsequently. By signing this form and the form attached to the medical, you and your parents or caregivers consent to do this.

We accept the Trust may use audio, visual or media from the voyage from time to time for reporting or promotional purposes

Trainee Code of Conduct for:

Your rights

As a sail trainee you have rights:

You have a right to be treated with respect

All sail trainees have a right to be treated with respect by all the crew. If you are not happy, discuss your concerns with the Skipper. If he or she is the cause of your problem, then please discuss your concerns with the shore based crew on your return.

You have a right to be listened to:

If you have concerns, you have a right to raise those concerns and be listened to by the crew or the Skipper.

You have a right to feel safe

Our primary concern is safety. The voyage is however designed to challenge you to step outside your comfort zone. If you feel unsafe, please discuss these concerns with the Skipper and tell them why you feel unsafe and what you would like us to change.

You have a right to complain

If you feel these rights have been broken, you have a right to raise these issues with the Trust's management in writing.

Our rights

To operate the vessel under a chain of command

On board a ship, there is always a chain of command. This starts with the ship's master, extended to the crew and down to Sail Trainees. We have a right to expect sail trainees to obey reasonable instructions. This is for the safety of everyone on board, including the sail trainees. Discipline is essential so in the event of adverse situations, everyone knows what to do to keep themselves and the ship safe.

To be treated with respect

Crew members want you to have a safe and happy experience, one that challenges you but where you feel rewarded. We expect that sail trainees will treat both the crew and the ship with respect.

We want your experience on the R Tucker Thompson to be life changing and memorable and to ensure every trainee is treated equally and for safety reasons we require the following standards to be observed.

By signing this Code of Conduct you are agreeing to the standards below and accepting that the R Tucker Thompson Sailing Trust reserves the right to remove you from the ship should you not comply with any of these standards. I will:

- Not bring my mobile phone on board the ship.
- Inform the Captain or Crew of any medication I am taking that is not on my medical form and will give any medication I am taking on board the ship to the crew to keep safe.
- Not bring, use or abuse alcohol, illegal drugs or cigarettes onboard.
- Not bring aerosols (eg aerosol deodorants etc) on board. Roll on deodorants are allowed.
- Comply with the safety instructions given to me
- Respect the crew and all trainees.
- Not use offensive language towards the crew or other trainees.
- Not use threatening behaviour towards any member of crew or trainees
- Accept and appreciate the "no violence" policy of the ship (either verbal, physical or emotional)
- Not swap bunks during the voyage.
- Not bring any gang patches, insignia or use gang related behaviours whilst on board.
